A. S. Rosenroll Elected M.L.A. by Acclamation

The nomination last Saturday in the Odd Fellows hall was not very enthusiastic, although several of Mr. Rosenroll's staunch supporters were in attendance and added life to the proceedings. As there was only one nomination paper handed to H. D. Farris, returning officer—that of A. S. Rosenroll—he was declared elected by acclamation. Mr. Rosenroll's nomination paper was signed by over 30 influential ratepayers.

In honor of this happy and auspicious occasion Mr. Rosenroll gave a banquet to his friends and supporters in the Odd Fellows hall on Saturday evening, when about 150 guests sat down to a bountiful banquet, prepared by Smith & Talbot, caterers. The Wetaskiwin Citizens Band turned out in full force and escorted Mr. Rosenroll from his home to the hall.

The first toast drunk was "The King," and was responded to by singing God Save the King.

"The Army and Navy" was ably handled by "Captains" O'Brien and Phillips, each of whom delivered neat addresses.

The next toast was "The Farming and Ranching Interests," coupled with the names of Messrs. D.
Morrison, John Cummings and Wm. Thirsk.

Then came the toast of the evening, "Our newly-elected M.L.A.," proposed by the chairman, Mayor Dickson, who, in a few well-chosen remarks, referred to the honor bestowed upon a fellow-townsmen.

Mr. Rosenroll arose among cheers. He thanked the audience for the enthusiastic manner in which they had drunk his toast, also for the large and representative gathering and particularly to the Wetaskiwin Band for calling on him at his house to escort him to the hall. He was grateful that his efforts during the last parliamentary term had been appreciated in such a measure that he was re-elected by acclamation. This was the proudest day of his life, and he would spare no efforts to be worthy of that confidence which was so generously placed in him. Now, this election was significant. It meant that the government policy, that the Haultain-Sifton administration were unanimously endorsed by this district (prolonged cheers.) And so it ought to be; a more able, a more progressive, and a more honorable administration could not be found anywhere in Canada.
Four years ago, when Messrs. Haultain and Ross held a meeting here, Mr. Haultain, pointing to the Ordinances, said: "There you will find my policy; with this book I go to the electors." And it is Haultain right through. Do we ever hear any complaints against our laws? Not from the people.
Some aspiring politicians may find fault, but not the people. There was no law on the statute book unless there was a need for it. Every school which studs our fertile prairie or is the pride of our towns and villages, every bridge that spans our rivers, proclaims much stronger than language can express the policy of our government.

Much criticism had been offered by certain city politicians of our law for the expropriation of land for roads or road deviations. Now I supported that law in the strongest terms, and it is the best thing that could ever have happened that such a law was placed on the statute book. It is true, it gave the Commissioner of Public Works the power to fix the compensation for lands taken for roads, but is he not the best judge, he who has to deal with all expropriations? We have taken the matter out of the hands of the courts and particularly the lawyers, but the farmer—the settler—gets his road.

Mr. Rosenroll then spoke of the efficiency in which the Department of Agriculture was managed by Mr. Bulyea, how the department organized the Purebred Stock Association of the west, the Grain Growers' Association of the east, the assistance that was given to stock breeders who wished to improve their herds. It was the most up-to-date, the most practical agricultural department in the Dominion.

Mr. Rosenroll then spoke at length on Provincial Autonomy, and by way of introduction gave a historical sketch of the North West Territories. The desire of European powers to obtain a north-west passage to India led to the granting by King Charles II of England of the charter to "The Governor and Company of Merchant Adventurers trading into Hudson Bay," in the year 1670. One of the prime objects of the company was to search for such a north-west passage, and its failure to secure such a passage led to action that almost caused the revocation of the charter. The company was granted the most absolute powers in the country adjacent to Hudson's straits and bay, but for many years did little or nothing but trade with the Indians who came to the forts established on the shores of the bay. In the early years of the 19th century, Lord Selkirk, who had acquired a controlling interest in the company, bought from the company a large tract of land west of Red River, extending south into what is now the United States. He brought out from the north of Scotland a number of settlers and placed them upon his lands. He also provided the first form of government really established in the country. The Hudsons Bay chief officials formed the governing body entirely—no such thing as representative institutions being known. On the transfer of the Hudsons Bay Company's rights, the government of the country was seized by some of the natives of the country under Louis Riel, and held during the winter of 1869-70. This administration fell on the arrival of the English and Canadian troops at Fort Garry in the spring of 1870. In 1870, Mr. David Laird, then Minister of the Interior, and now Indian Commissioner at Winnipeg, was the first Lieutenant-Governor appointed, who was not at the same time Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba. At first Lieut.-Governor Laird had power to make Ordinances himself. This condition of affairs did not last long, for in 1877 the two stipendiary magistrates, Mr. Ryan and Col.
Richardson, were ex-officio made members of the North West Council, and Col. Macleod, then commissioner of the N. W. M. Police, was appointed to the Council. The first elected member of the Council was Mr. Lawrence Clark, then Hudson Bay factor at Carlton, who sat in 1881. In 1883, there were six elected members, among st whom were Frank Oliver, of Edmonton (cheers) and J. H. Ross, now Governor of the Yukon (cheers.) In 1887, for the first time Mr. Haultain appeared. The Legislative Assembly, which sat first in 1888, was given no executive powers, nor even any governing powers. In 1889, a conflict led by Mr. Haultain for the Assembly began with the Lieut.-Governor, which lasted for two years, culminating in 1891 by absolute capitulation on the part of the Governor. Down to 1897 many administrative matters were retained in the hands of the Governor, but in that year the establishment of full responsible institutions placed the N.W.T. in its present constitutional position.

And now the time has come for the Territories to enter into full provincial rights (prolonged cheers), the needs of the people demand it. We are ripe for it. We only claim the same rights and privileges which other provinces have. The famous "Bill of Rights," which had been drafted by Mr. Haultain for submission to parliament sets forth our claims. Mr. Rosenroll then explained the most vital features of that bill, such as control of the public domains, coal fields, mines and timber, compensation for alienation of public lands for Dominion purposes, and for the exemption from taxation of such lands, subsidies, etc. Mr. Rosenroll then sat down among prolonged cheers.

The next toast proposed was the "Mayor and Councillors," and was responded to by Mayor Dickson and the councillors present. J. Y. Byers responded on behalf of Mr. West.

J. A. O'Neil Hayes ably responded to the toast "The Pioneers."

The "Commercial Interests" toast was well handled by Messrs. Rushton, Farris, Byers and Hey.

The happy gathering then dispersed after singing Auld Lang Syne, and those who were present will long remember, with pleasant recollections, the bounteous banquet given by A. S. Rosenroll, M. L. A. on the occasion of his being elected by acclamation for a second term to the Legislative Assembly.

Our farmers are progressing favorably with the seeding.

O. A. Lydin finished seeding sixty acres on his homestead. He is rustling through as he expects to break some hundred acres on the half section of land he purchased this spring in the Star district.

Herman Faulk, who bought the west half of 14-43-22 from Messrs. Reiskie and Beigher, arrived some time ago with his family and is putting in a large crop.

The bunch of horses shipped in from British Columbia by Nerls Johnson is getting small. Vic, who has charge of disposing of them, proves an efficient horseman in many ways.

The Swedish picnic at the school house last Thursday was a grand affair. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large crowd was present. The chief feature of the outdoor sports was a football match, Smaland vs. Malmo. The contestants worked hard and stoutly disputed every inch of ground. The score stood three to two in favor of the Smaland boys. The teams were: Smaland—A. Johnson, capt.; A. Kallman, J. A. Johnson, O. Johnson, H. Johnson, O. Ravensburg, O. Kraft, J. P. Kallman, J. Krefling, H. Skode and E. Dufva. Malmo—Vic Johnson, capt.; J. Anderson, A. Johnson, E. Johnson, W. Lindbloom, E. Krefling, A. Mack, C. Lindbloom, M. Krefling, Victor Lindbloom and O. Neilson. A programme of interesting songs, recitations and dialogues was rendered in the school house. The selections were: Part I—Song, by three girls; recitation, Miss E. Balch; Song, Mr. and Miss Ida Kallman; Song, four girls. A sumptuous luncheon was then handed around, Part II—Dialogue, "The Yankee Marksman;" Song, Misses Ida and Karin Kallman; Dialogue, "Lesions in Cookery;" Song, Mr. and Miss Ida Kallman; Dialogues, "Joshua's Proposal," and "The Census Taker;" Song, four girls. The programme was concided by singing "God Save the King."

Lewisville.

Fishing parties are all the rage now.

Mr. Humble is soon to return to his home in Oklahoma.

Parker Rhyason went to Wetaskiwin on Friday on business.

The church on the Bussard farm is not progressing very fast.

Mr. Mead is kept busy at the anvil from morning until evening.

Wheat is all seeded and oat seeding is well advanced at this point.

Our busy merchant, Frank Purdy, made a trip to Wetaskiwin on Tuesday with a load of eggs, returning with a load of the necessities of life for the people of Lewisville.

The young people in and around Lewisville gave Morris Porter a surprise party on Friday evening, May 2nd, it being the anniversary of his birthday. The young people served an oyster supper. All who participated report having had a pleasant time.

All Eyes on Texas.

Great is Texas. Her vast cotton crops and marvellous oil discoveries amaze the world. Now follows the startling statement of the wonderful work at Cisco, Tex., of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption: "My wife contracted a severe lung trouble," writes Editor J. J. Eager, "which caused a most obstinate cough and finally resulted in profuse hemorrhages, but she has been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery." It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Ward's Drug Store.
